NULPH - WATKINS NUPTIALS

St. Paul Dispatch: A noon wedding was one of the attractions at the fair grounds today. Julius E. Watkins, of Walcott, ND., and Miss Mildred Nulph, of Wyndmere, ND., were married by Rev. Emil Sands of Minneapolis, at the Northwestern Agriculturist Building.

As might be expected the wedding proved a big attraction for the women in the crowd, and the men, also, seemed quite anxious to see and hear everything. A big crowd gathered in front of the building and it was with difficulty that the police succeeded in clearing the way for the wedding party. Probably three thousand person saw or tried to see the ceremony.

The bride, her attendants and flower girls were driven around the grounds in automobiles escorted by a band, and when finally the procession stopped in the crowd in front of the building, the groom stood on the porch waiting. But the groom was not the person in whom the crowd was interested, for no sooner had the bride alighted than all eyes were turned upon her.

Miss Nulph wore a light blue gown, picture hat and carried a bouquet of white roses. The big crowd evidently did not alarm her, for as she walked to the proch she was to all appearances as little disturbed as though she were among her home friends.

The evangelical service was used, and there were few formalities. The crowd gave respectable attention, but everybody was immensely pleased when the groom kissed the bride. A wedding breakfast was served on the porch, following the ceremony.

The father and mother of the bride, and the mother of the groom, with the other near relatives, were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins remained on the fair grounds the balance of the day, and tomorrow they will leave for Walcott, their future home.

The local paper in a Mississippi town recently had occasion to describe a wedding. On the same day an article was written concerning two impudent tramps who had visited the town. The new boy in the office managed to get the slugs mixed, with the following results:

"The bride entered at the right escorted by her brother, who knocked at the door and demanded something to eat. She was beautifully gowned in a gray traveling costume.

The groom wore the conventional suit for such affairs, a ragged brown corduroy suit, a soiled shirt and a battered derby hat and was accompanied by a fierce looking bulldog. Both were dirty and unkempt. They left town in a side door sleeper of a local freight train followed by showers of rice, old shoes and good wishes. If they should be caught here again they are likely to be roughly handled by indignant citizens.

You have heard of the case where a woman ran a needle into her thumb and after twenty years it worked itself out of her big toe. Well, here's a case that has that beat a mile.

Last year one of the young ladies of this city made a mistake of pinning her belt with a needle and the needle ran into her and could not be found; just the other day it is said to have been found coming out of the arm of one of our young men. We don't know how the needle was recognized as the same unless by the expression of its eye.

How it got from the young lady's waist into this young man's arm is a secret which baffles science.

SENSATIONAL ELOPEMENT

Richland County Boy Captures a Minot Belle

Patrick White of Fairmount has a lot of friends in this vicinity who will read with interest the following account of his marriage to a Minot young lady. The story is printed under a Minot date line, and while it is dated April 1st the story is no April Fool joke:

On the eve of her wedding, Miss Margaret Blackman, a society belle, has eloped. Miss Blackman was to have been married on April 20th to Chester Ripley, Cashier of a bank at Fort Yates, ND., at one time a student of the Minnesota University. Several months ago she went to Dogden to give music lessons. A storm came up and she was snow-bound for three weeks in a little town. While passing the time away until the blockade could be lifted, Patrick White laid siege to her heart. Mr. White is a traveling salesman for a Fargo concern.

The affair at Dogden led to several trysts at Minot and the courtship among the snowbanks of Dogden culminated yesterday in the elopement. The couple were located at Bismarck last evening.

An attempt was made to stop the wedding but Miss Blackman is of legal age and it was of no avail.

ROLAND

Our baby is dead! Sorrow too deep for words hangs over the home, for our first born has gone from us. The son in whom our future worldly hopes and ambitions were centered, whose development from babyhood to young boyhood has been watched by mother and father for nearly nine years, has been relieved of worldly cares. Words are empty things. The memory of ROLAND is too sacred to discuss outside our family circle.

DIED....On Saturday, May 4th, 1907, Roland Tisdell Forman, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Forman, Jr., aged eight years, eight months and six days. Death was probably the result of heart failure caused by sudden fright.

During the afternoon Roland had been playing circus alone in the yard near the printing office, performing various simple feats with a trapeze and swing made from a shawl strap. Probably about four o'clock he attached the ends of the strap to a section of gas pipe extending outside the printing office and inserted his head through the loop thus formed, which was large enough to have admitted the body of a grown man. In some manner he lost consciousness, probably in trying to see how long he could hold his breath, and when found shortly before five o'clock he was standing with his feet on the ground, his neck through the large loop, unconscious and probably lifeless, for though taken to the hospital with all haste, efforts to revive him were fruitless. Heart failure was undoubtedly the cause of his death, for the slightest struggle at any time would have released him from the swing.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, services being conducted at the Congregational Church by Rev W. A. Whitcomb and W. D. Rickert.

The tiny casket was loaded with floral offerings from family friends, the school children and teachers, Sunday School and various societies and orders. The school children attended in a body, and at the conclusion of the sermon sorrowfully followed the remains of their playmate to the new cemetery southwest of town, where interment was made.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Tisdell, of Hatton, ND., Mr. and Mrs. E. Compton, of Wheaton, MN., W. C. Forman, Sr., Miss Clara Forman, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hurly, Misses Edith and Affie Hurly, John Hurly, R. E. Hurly and Wm. Hurly, Jr., of Forman, ND.

Our friends must feel rather than hear our appreciation of the kindness and sympathy shown during the past week. It has restored our faith in humanity and will always be cherished among our sweetest memories.

DEATH of MRS. CARR

Mrs. Emma F. Carr, wife of Geo. E. Carr, passed peacefully away at her home in this village Monday morning at 6:15 AM of a complication of diseases, having been an invalid for many years. Her death was not unexpected yet cast a gloom over the entire community, deceased having endeared herself to everyone by her thorough goodness to all with whom she came in contact. Her's was a life of self sacrifice and she brightened many a sick chamber by her motherly presence.

The remains were shipped on Tuesday to the old home at West Concord, MN., for interment, accompanied by the sorrowing husband and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gogstetter. A short service was held at the home Tuesday morning attended by neighbors and family friends, Rev. H. E. Walker, a friend of deceased for thirty years, officiating.

Emma F. Leffingwell was born in Onidea Couty, NY., on Oct. 1st, 1847. When six months old she removed with her parents to Dance County, WI., where they lived a number of years, going from there to Dodge County, Wisconsin, where she was married to George Carr on July 4th, 1871. OBITUARY of GALEN B. CLARK

"Asleep in Jesus! Blessed sleep! From which none ever wake to weep.
A calm and undisturbed repose, Unbroken by the last of foes."

+ + + + +

The friend whom we mourn today was of Revolutionary stock. His great-grandfather on his mother's side was a captain in the war for liberty in 1776. His name was John Rouse, of German extraction. His great-grandmother, Hannah Smith, was English. Twelve children blessed their union. John and Hannah Rouse lived to 70 and 98 years respectively.

On his father's side our friend Clark descended from English, Scotch and Irish blood. His father, John Rouse Clark, and Catherine Clark (nee Barstow), were highly respected citizens. Two children were born to them, William Leach C., historian of Pittsburg and Philadelphia, and Galen Barstow C. The latter, the eldest, was born at Lyndon, Whiteside County, IL. His birthday was the 23rd of August, 1850.

His parents were farmers. He was educated in the common schools and in Eastman Business College, Chicago. He afterward taught school several years near Webster City, IA.

He was married on the 31st of March, 1876, at the home of her parents, John J. and Elizabeth Thomas, to their fourth child Mary Alice. The groom was 26 and the bride 18 years of age. They were united by Minister Ray of the M. E. Church. The young people continued some years near Webster. He then moved to Missouri, where he taught a year and then returned to Webster.

In 1880 he moved with his family to Breckenridge, MN. He resided there five years, engaged in the express business. He served two years as constable while in Breckenridge. After residing there two years he entered a homestead and tree claim in Richland County, Dakota Territory. He built the first good house in that neighborhood. His father, John Rouse Clark, entered his homestead and tree claim adjoining. Together they had a section of land. Planting twenty acres of trees they had one of the finest groves in Dakota.

He took a prominent part in dividing the territory into the states of North and South Dakota. He was elected and served several terms as County Commissioner of Richland County. He helped to organize the county poor farm near Wahpeton, the county seat. Many poor, sick and oppressed people will bless him and drop a tear to his memory. He was always foremost in every worthy public enterprise. He held the offices of school clerk and trustee of Elma Township, where he lived and helped in the division of Elma and organizing of Greenfield Township. He was prominent in local financing, and building school houses, employing teachers and organizing districts to facilitate education as the population increased. He was township assessor several terms.

He sold his lands in 1903 and removed to Washington. He bought several farms in the great bend of the Columbia River where he resided one year with his family near Wilbur. He owned a good home at W. 828 Euclid Avenue, Spokane, where he removed with his family three years ago (in 1904) where they have resided to the present.

To mourn his untimely departure he leaves his worthy widow and children, and his brother and a wide circle of mourning and appreciative friends. The children are, in order of age, Bertram Galen, married to the second daughter of the writer, Elma Alice, Stella Belle, Ralph Waldo, and Gladys Lenora Clark.

Our friend who has passed before had a firm faith in the Providence of God. He was of a happy, sunny temperament, the life of the social circle. He loved a good story, was a good listener, when he told one his friends could see the point without explanation. But most of all things earthly, he loved to see the prosperity of his country, his friends and his family. He was a loyal Republican and rejoiced in the victories of his party. He fervently believed its principles to be the best for the republic. He left his family very well provided for.

"Rest, dear friend rest, Life's struggles o'er,
Sleep the sleep that knows no waking!
Life's work well done, annoys no more!
Nor days of suffering, nights of waking "

He expired with but little pain, at 10 AM, May 8th, 1907. He was sick nearly three weeks, of a complication of diseases ending in pneumonia. Two doctors exhausted their skill in vain to prolong his life.

The funeral was from the home. It was largely attended. The writer went in the morning to get the data needed for this article, which is written by request of Mrs. Mary Alice Clark. I found present all the family, Mrs. Rebecca Johnson and Mr. Joseph H. Thomas of Seattle, brother of Mrs. Clark. After writing some time in the parlor, Miss Elma asked if I had seen her father, her eyes filling with tears. I said I had not. She led me to where he lay, in the northwest room. He was reposing as if in sleep, in an elegant gray-brocaded, velvet, silver trimmed casket. It was covered with beautiful wreaths and bouquets of costly cut flowers.

There was, from Mrs. F. Corey, a lovely flower cross. From the Spokesman - Review a bouquet of lilies, roses, carnations and ferns. The Modern Woodmen of America, a vase and large wreath of cut flowers. Mrs. Gardner gave a fine bouquet of flowers. Mrs. Harry Lydell brought a bouquet of lovely flowers. Mrs. Nelson a vase of carnations, Mrs. Robert A. Tyson a bouquet of white carnations. Mrs. Gillett sent a vase of large apple and cherry blossoms. The Grote-Rankin Co., through Mr. Joseph Logan, sent a fine large bouquet of Easter lilies, red, yellow and white roses, and ferns, bearing a dainty card with the words "A token of sympathy from the store." Vases of cut flowers were sent by Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. R. Johnston and Mrs. Ashmyer.

The funeral exercises were held by Rev. Rasmus and Rev. Tripplet of the Methodist Church. The hymns used by the female choir were 1st, "Nearer My God To Thee"; 2nd, "How Blest the Righteous When He Dies," and last "Asleep in Jesus."

The casket was then placed in the dining room, when friends looked for the last time on earth, upon the kindly face of the dear husband, father and friend who was borne by the messengers of God to his Heaven of Everlasting Life. His brothers in regalia, the Modern Woodmen of America, removed him to the hearse. Four large cabs, drawn by fine horses, were filled by the family and friends and drove to Greenwood Cemetery. The ceremony of interment was performed by the Woodmen. The site of the grave overlooks Spokane amid beautiful natural scenery. Thus passed away one of the chosen ones of earth. He exemplified the line of the poet William Cullen Bryant;

"So live that when thy turn comes, To join the innumerable caravan gone before,
Thou go, not as the quarrey slave at night scourged to his dungeon,
But like him who wrapping the drapery of his coach about him,
Lies down to pleasant dreams."

.....Robert A. Tyson.

BODY FOUND in CISTERN

Demented Woman Perished Miserably at Lidgerwood

The body of Mrs. Wallin was found Monday morning in an open cistern in the rear of the Merchants Hotel at Lidgerwood. Mrs. Wallin, it will be remembered, disappeared last November and efforts to locate her were unsuccessful. She was the wife of a farmer ten miles southwest of Lidgerwood and had been at Minneapolis for medical treatment.

She suddenly developed mental trouble and was placed on a train and sent home. Just when the train reached Lidgerwood she sprang off the platform and ran.

Her husband and friends instituted a search for the unfortunate woman but were unable to find her and as a severe storm arose that night it was generally thought she had wandered away and had been lost on the prairie.

Monday morning a hired girl at the hotel found the body in the cistern. It is supposed that Mrs. Wallin had endeavored to seek shelter from the storm by entering the hotel from the back way, and had fallen into the open cistern.

Besides the husband several young children were left. A reward had been offered by Wallin for the recovery of the body and this will probably go to the girl who made the gruesome find.

DEATH of JOHN BRACKIN

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brackin were shocked to learn of the sudden death of their son John H., which occurred at Homestead, PA., on Tuesday, July 2nd, at 11 o'clock PM., and his death having resulted from an attack of cerebro spinal meningitis. He was stricken Friday afternoon and passed away the following Tuesday night despite the best medical skill from the near by city of Pittsburg.

Wm. Brackin, father of the deceased, was with him at the end, the two having just returned from a trip to the Jamestown exposition. The grief stricken parent had the body embalmed and what had been looked forward to as a pleasure trip was changed to a sorrowful return to the Richland County home. Mr. Brackin arrived Friday evening and the remains were taken to the home in Waldo Township, where funeral services were held Sunday afternoon. Interment was made in Hillside Cemetery southwest of Hankinson. The remains were followed to their last resting place by a sorrowing procession of relatives and friends.

John H. Brackin was 22 years, 10 months and 15 days old at the time of his death. He was a native of Douglas County, MN., and came to Richland County nine years ago when the family settled in Waldo Township. Here he remained for seven years, winning the respect and esteem of all by his industrious habits and many excellent qualities. Ambitious to make his mark in the great industrial world, he left the farm a year ago last December and went to Pittsburg, entering the employ of the Carnagie Steel Corporation. His intelligent application to the work won for him promotion from time to time, and though less than twenty three years old he held a responsible position in the electrical department at Homestead at the time of his demise.

Beside the stricken parents he leaves four brothers and two sisters to mourn his untimely end.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER

Colonel E. S. Lovelace of Fort Ransom, north of Lisbon, was arrested yesterday on a charge of murdering William Lovelace, his nephew. Wm. It is claimed he embezzled his uncle's funds and it is rumored that he had alienated the affections of his uncle's young wife.

The motive for the crime is said to be worry over looting of his store and jealousy. Anton Peterson, a resident of Fort Ransom, was arrested several weeks ago and is thought to be an accomplice. It is thought Lovelace was murdered in an out-building in the rear of the store and the body removed to an under-brush, two hundred yards away, where it was found this spring. Lovelace asserts his innocence and claims to have been in St. Paul at the time of his Nephew's disappearance. The prisoner is a pioneer and wealthy.

KILLED by G. N. CAR

A Transient Crushed to Death in Local Yard

Joe Hardina, a laborer aged 18 years, was crushed to death by the wheels of a box car on the Great Northern side track opposite the depot Friday afternoon at 2:40 PM.

Hardina and his partner, A. L. Chapin, had been working for Kinn Bros. in the hay field for about a week. Friday morning they were paid off and decided to return to their homes near Kidder, SD. They purchased tickets at the G. N. Depot and intended to take train No. 235, which pulled in shortly after two o'clock. Conductor E. T. Wilson went over town for dinner with his crew and while waiting for the train the two boys walked across the track and sat down in the shade of a box car at the east end of the loading platform. Hardlina sat on a rail, his feet outside, and leaning against the carwheel. Chapin sat on the end of a tie about six feet distant. This car was the east one of a string of four and in switching it was necessary to move them. The engine backed in from the west end of the switch with a string of fourteen cars and before he had time to move, the car wheel caught Hardlina's overalls at the hip, he was thrown on his back lengthwise of the rail and the wheel passed over the left side of his body and head, killing him instantly. The body and head were crushed in a horrible manner.

The body was removed to Wipperman's Undertaking Rooms, but a telephone message to Fairmount did not reach Coroner Kitley who was out of town. Justice Parslow was pressed into service as acting coroner and a jury was empaneled consisting of E. L. Kinney, F. O. Hunger and O. Lindeke. After viewing the body and examining Chapin and the members of the train crew, a verdict of accidental death due to the victim's own carelessness, was rendered.

The unfortunate man's father, Jos. Hardina, Sr., and an uncle arrived Saturday morning and accompanied the remains to Kidder for interment.

O B I T U A R Y ,

John Peter Krebsbach, the subject of this sketch, was born in 1839 at Reigerings, Bezirkcoblins, Konigreich, Perisen, and departed this life on Sept. 25th, 1907.

In 1853, at the age of fourteen, he emigrated to America, settling at Green Bay, WI., where he was married in 1867 to Margaret Saldscheider. Of this union ten children were born and all are living, viz: Joseph of Endress ND.; John J. of Beardsley MN., Mike, Peter and Benjamin, all of Esmond, ND.; Nick J., of Hankinson, H. S. of Ryder, ND.; William, of Endress, ND., Mrs. Kate Ulrich and Mary Krebsbach, both of Endress, ND.

In 1869 the family moved from Green Bay to Spring Hill, MN., where they resided for 37 years. In 1906 they removed to Hankinson but resided here only five months, leaving last April for Endress, where the eldest son is engaged in farming.

On Wednesday morning of last week the deceased was around and in his usual good health apparently. Shortly after the breakfast hour he complained of a choking sensation, and within twenty minutes had passed to the beyond. Heart failure was the cause of death.

Deceased will be remembered by many of our readers as a quiet and unassuming man, the soul of honor in business transactions...in short a moded citizen in every way. In addition to the family of ten children, his aged wife survives him, and the sympathy of all goes out to the bereaved ones.

The funeral was held Saturday at the Endress Catholic Church, interment being made in the cemetery near that place. All the children were present except John J. Krebsbach who could not reach there in time for the services.

He thus lost his balance and, falling sidewise, came down across the rails. The strong wind and high waves swamped the boat, and precipitated the four into the icy water. All managed to get hold of the capized boat and drift with it. However, Stapleton, benumbed by the cold, lost his hold and sank. He was soon followed by the boy. The other two hung to the drifting boat, finally reaching the bank.

The boy missed his aim whereupon the lynx sprang upon him with great ferocity. Terrible cries attracted men at a distance, but when they arrived the lynx was rapidly devouring the body. DEATH of MRS. OSBORN

Passed Away Early Friday Morning After a Brief Illness

The sudden death of Mrs. Chas. Osborn at about 1 AM Friday morning last was a great shock to the entire community.

Mrs. Osborn had not been in very good health for some time, but neither she nor her friends considered her malady serious. Even as late as Wednesday she hoped to be able to attend the annual supper of the Congregational Church to be held that evening. When evening came she was unable to go out. She grew worse rapidly over night and soon fell into a deep sleep which proved to be the sleep of coma from which she did not waken.

Her husband was on his sheep ranch in Wyoming, about 50 miles from the railway. As soon as Mrs. Osborn's alarming condition was realized a telegram was sent to Mr. Osborn. The dispatch was promptly carried the long distance to Mr. Osborn's ranch reaching him at 11 PM at night...only two hours before his wife's death. A second message telling of Mrs. Osborn's death did not reach him. Mr. Osborn took the train at 4 PM on Friday at Torrington, WY., and arrived at Hankinson Sunday evening at 5:30. He learned the sad news first from the lips of John R. Jones, his brother-in-law, who was waiting his arrival.

The funeral was held at the Osborn home, where the many friends of the deceased crowded the house. The services were in charge of her pastor assisted by Rev. Mr. Walker,

Mrs Osborn has been since childhood a member of the Congregational Church. Since the the family moved to Hankinson about seven years ago she has taken an active interest in all phases of Christian service. She was the devoted teacher of a class of high school girls-- whose grief at her death is a beautiful monument to her memory. Mrs. Osborn was also an active member of the local W. C. T. U.

The body was taken for burial to her childhood home at Metomen, WI., (near Ripon) where others of the family lie buried.

Mrs. Osborn's maiden name was Annette E. Stillwell. She was born at Metomen, WI., on Feb. 18th, 1848. Her parents names were Louson Stillwell, and wife Mary K. Stillwell. She was married to Chas. Osborn on Nov 28th, 1867. Besides the husband, one daughter Miss Belle Osborn, survives her.

The surviving brothers and sisters are L. W. Stillwell, Deadwood, SD., Mrs. F. R. Munn, Ripon, WI., Mrs. E. C. Bent, Dell Rapids, SD., Warren Stillwell, Milwaukee, WI. and Mrs. J. R. Jones of Hankinson. * * * * * January 30, 1908

THEY DIED TOGETHER

Couple Well Known Here Die From Coal Gas at Wahpeton

Wm. Wittman received a message Saturday evening announcing the death of both his father and mother at Wahpeton. The aged couple were found dead in their home where they lived alone, having been asphyxiated by coal gas.

The tragedy became known through a visit made to the little home by Sylvester Deitz a son-in-law, who went to the house with provisions. When he entered the old man Peter Wittman, was sitting in a chair near the stove and his wife was lying near the bed as though she had been overcome just as she was about to rise. The stove pipes were all down and from appearances it would seem that Wittman had taken the pipe down to clean it and becoming fatigued had sat down in the chair, where he succumbed. At the inquest it was decided that death was accidental.

Peter was 73 years old and his wife 70. They came to this county from Wisconsin in an early day, filing a homestead entry on the farm now occupied by R. Gollnick near Great Bend. They later disposed of this land and for several years have resided at Wahpeton. Among the surviving children are Wm. B. Wittman and Mrs. Herman Bladow of this place, Mrs. S. Deitz of Wahpeton and Barney Wittman who is at some point in the northern part of the state.

JAMIE

For the second time within twelve months the Angel of Death has visited the household of The NEWS editor, this time removing from us little Jamie, our youngest, who would have been one year old on May 1st. He was taken ill Monday night and the best medical skill was unable to cope with the fatal cerebro spinal meningitis. He passed peacefully away at 12:30 Wednesday as though falling into a deep sleep.

Jamie has been his mother's greatest comfort during the year following the death of Roland, which occurred but four days after Jamie came to gladden our home. Having thus fulfilled his earthly mission, he was summoned by an All Wise Providence to his home above.

A simple funeral service was held Friday morning at the home. Rev. Whitcomb made a few fitting remarks, some comforting hymns were sung, and the mortal remains of our beloved baby were laid to rest beside his eldest brother in the new cemetery.

We will not attempt, in words, to convey our appreciation of the kindness and assistance of friends during the time it was so sorely needed.

DEATH OF MRS. RUSSELL

Pioneer Hankinson Resident Passed Away at Kensal.

A wave of sorrow swept over our community Monday when word was received from Kensal of the death of Mrs. F. A. Russell. While the news had been expected for several days, still it came as a shock to all who knew her.

Deceased was 37 years old and was among the early residents of Hankinson, where she grew to womanhood, respected and beloved by all with whom she was associated.

Her maiden name was Maude R. McLaughlin and it was in Hankinson she was married to F. A. Russell, who survives her. Three children...Earl, Pearl and a baby daughter...are also bereft. To the sorrowing ones the sympathy of all Hankinson friends goes out.

The funeral was held yesterday at Wahpeton and was attended by the following persons from here: Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Most of the old timers here will remember the excitement caused by the finding of the body of a man in the grove north of Nels Petterson's farm house, a mile and a half west of town, some thirteen years ago. The body was found under the limb of a tree from which one end of a handkerchief was suspended, giving the impression that it was a case of suicide. The body was in an advanced stage of decomposition and there was no means of identification. The theory that a hobo had committed suicide was generally accepted, notwithstanding some suspicious circumstances and the incident was soon forgotten. Probably few know of the sequel, however, which proved by the confession, on the scaffold for another murder, that the man found in the Petterson grove was a murder's victim.

About four years after the finding of the body as above described, a hobo was arrested in a small Minnesota town for the murder of a pal. He was convicted and hanged for his crime, and on the scaffold he detailed how he had killed a man a mile and a half west of Hankinson by striking him over the head, afterward arranging the body to make it appear like a case of suicide. The motive was robbery but a small sum was left in the pockets to avoid suspicion of foul play when the body should be found. But for the second crime committed four years later, the murderer would have escaped punishment entirely.

SUICIDE at WAHPETON

Wahpeton, ND., June 13th.....Peter Matthias, about 49 years old, committed suicide in the Commercial Hotel last night by hanging himself to the bedpost. He is said to have a brother at International Falls, MN., and another in South Dakota. A brother-in-law has also been located at Kensal, this state. A will found in his pocket indicates he has several children, but their whereabouts is yet unknown.

He came here with one John Georgen on May 19th, and bought a small stock of merchandise. He and Georgen had met the week before at Alexandria, MN., and at that time he had about $1,800 in cash, the savings of a lifetime. He let Georgen have $500 with which to buy the stock, $500 more to buy new goods and $400 more later for expenses.

Realizing he had been duped, he went to an attorney and Georgen was arrested and placed in jail. The loss of money is believed to have unbalanced Matthias's mind and caused him to take his life. He had remarked to several persons that he might as well kill himself. Georgen had over $400 in his pockets when arrested and this was turned over to his attorney on the order of the states' attorney. He was to have a hearing today but the complaining witness being dead, was released.

DEATH OF O. SORENSON

Popular Express Messenger Dies from Injuries

Last Thursday's issue of The NEWS made mention of the accident which befell Otto Sorenson, express messenger on the Soo, at Nashua, the second station east of here. Scarcely had the paper been printed when word came from Enderling that he had died from his injuries.

Sorenson's death was due to injuries to his head, which resulted from the bumping together of the vestibuled coaches on the train when he was looking out for hoboes which he was assisting the crew to drive from the top of the train. He was conscious when the train reached here and was able to sit up and discuss his condition. He was given medical attention and was taken on to the Enderlin Hospital, where he suffered a hemorrhage soon after and passed away.

His young wife, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Mauer of this place, reached here the same evening in response to a telegram, but did not know of her husband's death until informed by relatives here. The body was brought to this place and buried Saturday afternoon, services being conducted at the Mauer home. The funeral was under the auspices of the Enderlin Lodge of Railway Trainmen and the casket was loaded with beautiful floral offerings. Interment was made in the new cemetery south of town.

Deceased was about 25 years old and was very popular among the railway men. He also had a large circle of friends in Hankinson, having resided here for a few months about three years ago. He is survived by a young wife and little son of three years, and her sorrow at the loss of her husband touched the stoutest heart. His mother is also living but could not reach here for the funeral. Three married sisters and a brother from St. Paul were in attendance.

A STRANGE STORY

Wheaton, MN., Aug. 21st.....Pronounced dead, C. H. Colyer, a prominent citizen of this county, and a legislative candidate, revived and apparently clear in mind, related a clear and graphic account of a visit to Heaven. The strange story finished, he admonished those at his bedside to lead better lives, and then offering an eloquent prayer, his voice gradually sank to a whisper and again the chill of death passed over him, this time the last.

About 9 PM in the evening, Mr. Colyer sank rapidly, and finally was pronounced dead, those about him believing that the spirit had fled. An hour later his pulse beat again, and he aroused himself and regained full consciousness. He informed those about him that he had been in heaven, and that it was a more beautiful place than any mind could imagine. He told his wife that he would return and would await her there. He told his brother that he had seen and talked with their mother, and assured him most earnestly that he was laboring under no delusion and was sincere in what he said. He then turned to his assembled friends and admonished all to lead better lives.

Then, offering the most inspiring prayer that those about his bedside had ever heard he quietly passed into the great beyond. It is said that his voice was strong, clear and distinct and could be heard throughout the house, although an hour before it had gradually failed until it sank to a whisper.

His apparent coming back to life and his strange story has deeply impressed those who heard it.

Mr. Colyer has not been known as a particularly religious man, though he was esteemed in the community for his fine character. People who knew him have been deeply impressed by his story.

MET DEATH SUDDENLY

Traveling Man Dies After Sudden Hemorrhage

Jarvis G. Wright, a traveling salesman for John V. Farwell & Co., of Chicago, died in his room at the Commercial Hotel yesterday morning after suffering for a few hours. His death was due directly to a hemorrhage, and is one of the most peculiar cases on record.

Wright arrived in town Wednesday morning and put in the day at Goldstein & Kulberg's store. He was a large man and usually in the most robust health, but during the day he complained of a bad cold and looked far from well. After leaving the store in the evening he purchased some quinine capsules. In swallowing one of these the two halves of the outside covering of the capsule separated and the sharp edge penetrated the delicate membrane of the throat, rupturing a blood vessel. Medical aid was summoned but little could be done to staunch the flow of blood and the unfortunate man passed away at an early hour in the morning.

Deceased was an Englishman by birth, about 45 years old and had no relatives in this country. He was highly esteemed by the few with whom he was acquainted here and Messrs. Goldstein and Kulberg, who have known him for years, cannot say enough in his praise as a honest and right living man in the best sense of the term.

The remains were taken to Wipperman's Undertaking Rooms and a representative of the firm for whom he worked is expected tomorrow to take charge of the funeral which will be held here Saturday, the deceased being absolutely without relatives in this country.

DEATH OF FRED PHELPS

Passed Away in New Mexico Saturday Morning

"Fred Phelps is dead!" When word to this effect was passed from mouth to mouth through the community last Saturday there was genuine sorrow in every heart. Everyone felt that the Great White Plague had added to its victims one of nature's noblemen, a man respected and esteemed by everyone with whom he came in contact. And there were few dry eyes when the sorrowing wife and fatherless little girls were thought of.

Word came from Alamogordo, NM., two weeks ago that he was failing rapidly, and Mrs. Phelps departed at once for his bedside, leaving the children with friends here. She arrived there Wednesday of last week, and not until the doctors informed the patient that he could not live did he give up hope. From that time on he sank steadily, passing away at an early hour Saturday morning.

Deceased was 34 years old and had been a resident of Hankinson since January of 1901 when he purchased the confectionery business now conducted by Lisk Bros. He was in personal charge of the store until he sold out a year and a half ago, and formed the acquaintance of nearly every resident of the community and surrounding country. Last winter his health began to fail and an examination in May of this year disclosed the fact that he was suffering from tuberculosis. On the advice of physicians he closed up his affairs as quickly as possible and went to Colorado and later to New Mexico. The disease had become too deeply seated to hope for recovery, however, and after spending several weeks there he came home for the summer. During the time he was at home everything that loving friends could do was done for his relief, and it was only a month or so ago that he again left for New Mexico, firm in the belief that a cure would be effected. Friends knew better, however, and the news of his death came as no surprise.

Deceased was married in 1901 to Miss Josephine Adrian of Minneapolis, who survives him. Three little daughters are also left fatherless....Virginia, aged five; Lillian, aged two and a half, and Dorothy, aged nine months. The parents are also living, and there are four brothers....Clyde S. of this place, one in Florida, one in Minneapolis and one in Litchfield, MN., where the parents reside.

Deceased was a member of the Masonic order and also of the local homestead of the American Yeomen. He carried $2,000 life insurance the latter order and $1,000 in a Masonic Company.

The remains have been brought back from New Mexico to the old home in Litchfield where the funeral will be held today. Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Phelps departed last evening to be in attendance. Beautiful floral tributes have been forwarded by the Masons and Yeomen, and there is hardly a person in the community but feels a distinct personal loss in the death of Fred Phelps.

Touching in the extreme was the funeral service conducted at the Congregational Church Sunday afternoon over the remains of the late Jarvis G. Wright, the traveling salesman who died here suddenly last week. The service was conducted by Rev. W. A. Whitcomb and was attended by the traveling men who were in town on that day and by quite a number of our citizens. Music was furnished by a male quartette and everything possible done to show the esteem in which the deceased was held by his associates, but the pathetic feature was the absence of any relatives as mourners.

The deceased was a native of England and all his relatives were in that country. Three representative of John V. Farwell Co., of Chicago, the firm by which the deceased had been employed, were in attendance and spared no effort to show proper respect for their late associate.

Before leaving town the gentlemen requested the NEWS to convey to the community their thanks for what had been done by the citizens to assist in a befitting burial of the deceased, and especially to Messrs Goldstein and Kulbert for their kindness.

EX-GOVERNOR MILLER DEAD

Passes Away Suddenly at His Home in Duluth

Duluth, MN., Oct. 26th....Former Governor John Miller of North Dakota died shortly after 8 AM today at his home, 429 East Second Street, of heart failure.

Mr. Miller was one of Duluth's foremost citizens. He was a member of the Board of Trade of Duluth and of the Chamber of Commerce of Minneapolis and always took a prominent part in any question of public interest. He was born at Dryden, NY., on Oct. 29th, 1843. He spent his boyhood on the farm of his parents near Dryden and then entered the mercantile business, remaining there until 1880.

He then moved to Dakota, which was at that time a territory, and became interested in wheat growing on a large scale. He also engaged in the real estate business.

He was elected to the Dakota Territorial Council in 1888 and in 1889 was elected the first Governor of the new state of North Dakota. He refused a re-election.

While Mr. Miller was governor the Louisiana lottery tried to gain a foothold in North Dakota but he opposed it successfully. It was related that when a suitcase containing $200,000 was taken to the executive chamber and he was told the money was his if he would let the lottery in, that he shouted, "My price is more than that," at the same time kicking the lottery agent out of his office. In 1896 Mr. Miller moved to Duluth and has lived here ever since that time, being engaged in the grain commission business. He was president of the John Miller Grain Company.

Mr. Miller leaves a wife and one daughter, 16 years of age. A niece, Mrs. R. N. Chaffee, also lives in this city.

+ + + + +

Mr. Miller was manager of the bonanza Dwight farm in this county at the time of his election as governor, and is well known to our pioneer citizens, all of whom learn with sincere regret of his demise. He was in Hankinson the latter part of September in the interests of the commission house which bears his name.

DIED by HIS OWN HAND

Michael Laboda, a pioneer settler of this part of the country, committed suicide at the home of Mrs. Mittag on the south side last Friday night by drinking a potion of strychnine and whiskey, dying within a few minutes after taking the poison.

Laboda walked in from the country and spent most of the afternoon asleep in the Mittag home. In the evening Mrs. Mittag went down town to get something for her guest's supper. He remarked before she left that he would be gone when she returned, but she thought little of the matter. It is supposed that as soon as he was left alone in the house he mixed and drank the strychnine and whiskey, and when Mrs. Mittag returned he was lying on the floor unconscious. Medical aid was summoned but he died a few minutes later.

Deceased was an early settler but for some time, with his wife, he has made his home with a son, Chas. Laboda, in Greendale Township. He has two other sons residing near Great Bend, and five daughters also survive him.

The funeral was held Saturday at Great Bend, Rev. Fisher conducting the services.

Old timers will remember the Oechsner family who resided in Hankinson up to about ten years ago. News was received this week of a terrible accident that befell Lulu, a 14 year old daughter, on Oct. 31st. The mother was rendering lard at about 11 o'clock AM and a dish of fat caught fire; the little girl picked it up and ran outdoors, the burning grease spattering over her clothing and she was so badly burned that death ensued 24 hours later. The mother and a three year old son were also badly burned but will recover though the mother is in a serious condition.

The father formerly conducted the hardware business now owned by John Green and the victim of the fatal accident was born here. The family moved from here to Wahpeton and about ten years ago moved from there to Port Arthur, TX., where the accident occurred.

REV. H. E. WALKER

Wednesday morning soon after sunrise the spirit of Elder Walker took its flight. At 9 AM of Thursday morning a funeral service was held at the Congregational Church. Addresses were made by Rev. W. A. Whitcomb, local pastor and by Rev. G. J. Powell, the Superintendent of Congregational Home Missions in North Dakota. The first address was in the form of personal reminiscences. The second was the sermon proper from the text " I have fought the good fight. I have kept the faith." A large attendance at the service and the beautiful floral offerings gave evidence of the high esteem in which Elder Walker (___r so his near friends loved to call him) was held in the town where he had for many years been an honored citizen. Several were present from Cayuga and Rutland representing the Congregational Churches of which he had been pastor up to his death.

The remains were then taken by train to West Concord, MN., where he lived for many long years, there to rest beside his wife who died some thirteen years ago. Elder Walker's illness was short. Sunday before last he preached as usual in Cayuga and Rutland. When he reached Hankinson near midnight that night he was so ill that he accepted aid from a neighbor to get home. A slow paralysis came over him and he gradually ___k away. Only for a short time was his mind clear, and though he seemed to recognise friends for a few days, the last clear gleams of consciousness had gone before the week was out. His only son, ___ Walker, came from Alberta Saturday but too late to have ___ words from his father. Mrs. ___utt also had come from West Concord, MN., and Mrs. Whillis ___ Lidgerwood. Mrs. Spotten and Mrs. Kaslow the other daughters live here, thus the family were together except Mrs. Rickert (Elder Walker's second child) who died a year ago last summer.

Elder Walker was 71 years old on the 13th of last July. He was born in Ohio. When he came ___, at about the time he came of ___, he lived a short time in Wisconsin, was married there and his first child was born there. He then moved to West Concord, MN. (or that immediate region) and continued to live there until about seven years ago when he followed his son to Hankinson. Soon after he moved from Wisconsin to Minnesota, and when about 25 years of age, he was converted, and almost at once began preaching in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, the church with which he became connected at conversion. He has preached almost continuously from that day to this. For many years he engaged in evangelistic work. Also for many years he was State Evangelist with the Wesleyans....an office corresponding somewhat to the office of the Presiding Elder in the M. E. Church. When he came to North Dakota he found that the Wesleyans were not extensively organized in this state, but he soon was pressed into service with the Congregationalists, and during the last three years has held a continuous pastorate at Rutland and later at Cayuga.

His mind was useful and active always. He was an ardent Prohibitionist, but felt a broad interest in all parties. With his wife he had established a home in Hankinson. He had married again after the lapse of some nine years from the death of his first wife. Their interest in local matters was strong and Elder Walker's death is widely felt throughout the community.

SENSATIONAL SUICIDE

James Shannon, Soo agent at Nashua, shot himself through the heart last Thursday morning., death being instantaneous. He had been speculating in wheat options with the company's money and a shortage of about $1,000 was the cause of his self destruction.

Shannon was formerly agent at Mantador and was also helper at Fairmount at one time. He was 22 years old and leaves a wife of seventeen in a delicate condition.

The day before he suicided was spent in writing letters to his wife and helper. In these letters he gave minute directions as to his burial and gave the shortage as the cause of his contemplated death. At the supper table he talked casually with friends as to the exact location of the human heart. In the morning an agent of the bond company appeared in the depot and knocked for admission to the agent's apartments. Shannon replied "all right, in a minute," stepped out of sight, and a moment later the report of the revolver rang out and he fell to the floor dead.

PREACHER SUICIDES

Rev. R. L. Dougherty, the Congregational Pastor at Buchanan, and also Congregational pulpit supply at Barrie, Richland County, committed suicide at about 7 AM Sunday morning by cutting his throat from ear to ear with a razor.

In a note which was found with the body, addressed to his father and brother, Dougherty stated that the act was the result of a nervous collapse.

A second note which was found later showed that he had intended to end his life on Wednesday, the 23rd, but that his nerve had failed him at that time.

After cutting his throat Dougherty held a bucket between his knees and caught the blood in it until he lost consciousness when he evidently toppled over and the blood was splashed over the room.

The act was committed in Dougherty's room in the rear of the Buchanan State Bank. Friends of the unfortunate man, K. A. Buchanan and F. H. Keeler, alarmed because he had not started for Barrie, where he was scheduled to preach in the morning, broke in the door about 8 AM and found the body which was already cold.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

Residents of all parts of the county were shocked when news came last Thursday that Val Dorn of Wahpeton had shot himself and would probably die. The end came at 7:30 PM the evening of the same day.

During the early morning he was in the lobby of the City Hotel at Wahpeton, which property he owned, and after talking with several bystanders walked to the toilet room. A moment later a shot rang out and when several bystanders rushed in he was found reclining against the wall, with a bullet wound in his left side near the heart. A smoking revolver at his feet told the story. He was removed to a room at once but did not regain consciousness.

Val Dorn was one of Wahpeton's substantial citizens and was well known throughout the county, numbering his friends in every township. For some time past he had brooded over imaginary troubles and it is thought he was mentally unbalanced. Early during the past summer he was prominently mentioned as a candidate for Sheriff but finally decided not to make the race, and during the fall campaign was one of Heley's strongest supporters in Wahpeton. His death was a great shock to the community and universal sympathy goes out to the sorrowing family.

DEATH of A PIONEER

Heart Failure Claims John Liermann of Mantador as a Victim

Another Richland County pioneer passed suddenly from the scene of earthly things last Friday morning at 10:30 AM when John Liermann of Mantador died of heart failure after an illness of but a few hours. Deceased was 75 years, two months and fifteen days old and had been suffering from the ills of old age for some time, but the sudden end was not expected.

Deceased was a native of Germany but came to this country with his family in 1882... nearly 27 years ago... and located in what is now Belford Township, being among the pioneers of this section. There he resided up to the time of his death, but for some time had made his home with his son Chas. Lierman. His wife died about a year ago, and brooding over the loss of his life mate doubtless hastened his death. He was a good specimen of the sturdy manhood that accomplished so much in the early development of this part of the country.

A veteran of three of the German wars, he was inured to the hardships that are part of pioneer life and his sterling honesty and high sense of personal honor gained for him the respect and esteem of his neighbors.

He is survived by six children, four of whom reside in this vicinity. Chas. Liermann, Mrs. Wm. Nehmer and Mrs. Chas. Krause of Mantador; Mrs. H. A. Alm of Hankinson; Mrs. A.

Bernard of Cold Spring, MN., and Mrs. Wm. Krause of Webster, SD. There are 41 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held Monday and the St. John's Church on the Wild Rice north of town was crowded with sorrowing friends who paid their last tribute of respect to their departed neighbor. The services were conducted by Rev. Hilgendorf and the remains were laid to rest beside those of the departed wife in the cemetery near the church.

DEATH OF A PATRIARCH

At the ripe old age of 92 years William Fourniea, father of Mrs. M. Schram of this place, passed away last Thursday at his home in Eden Valley, MN. For many months he had been helpless and the end had been expected at any time.

He was born in Canada in 1817 where he lived until the age of 20, when he came to the states, his first residence being in Maine where he worked in the great woods. His next move was to St. Paul and St. Anthony, where he worked on the river in summer and in the woods in the winter time for five years. He helped the late Father Ravoux to take out pine logs and float them down to St. Paul to build St. Paul's first church, the church after which St. Paul derives its name.

He was married on April 15, 1857, and 2 years ago the aged couple celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. For 39 years after their marriage they lived on a farm near the town of Plymouth, Hennepin County, and where six children were born to them. They later moved to Minneapolis, but six years ago moved to Eden Valley, MN., to make their home with a daughter, Mrs. Jos. Friedeman. The wife died about a year ago, aged 78.

A shocking accident occurred on the north side of town yesterday afternoon which will probably result in the death of Katie, the little six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reichsteid. The little girl was playing near a rubbish heap fire and her clothing caught fire from the flames. She screamed and started to run, which fanned the blaze all the more and by time assistance arrived she was fearfully burned about the abdomen and limbs. Everything possible to relieve the little girls's sufferings has been done, but the burns are so deep that there is little hope of her recovery.

CYCLONE KILLS TWO!

Devastation and Death in Wake of Storm Near Tyler Last Saturday

A cyclone devastated a narrow strip of country for a distance of twenty miles, from a point four miles east of Fairmount to the Schmidt place on the Wild Rice river, Saturday afternoon.

Albert Voss, an 18 year old boy, was instantly killed and another man, a telephone lineman whose name we have been unable to learn, died Tuesday at the Breckenridge Hospital as a result of injuries received. Two other men were painfully injured but will recover.

The property loss includes the almost total destruction of the farmers elevator at Tyler, the small Milwaukee Railway Depot, destruction of Elevator Agent Thompson's dwelling at the same place, and damage to many barns and smaller buildings in the path of the storm.

The cyclone originated near the Wm. Cross farm four miles east of Fairmount, where it razed a large machine shed 40 x 60 feet. Traveling northwest, it struck and demolished a frame school house a quarter of a mile from Childs but did not touch the village. Young Voss was killed while driving a team into the barn, the roof of the structure crushing his head in a frightful manner and causing instant death.

Before reaching Tyler the storm demolished a large barn on the farm of Joseph Matejek, and it was here that the three linemen were injured. The roof and walls of the structure were picked up from the cement floor, and the entire structure was raised above the tree tops. Several horses were taken with the building and though carried above the trees reached the ground without serious injury.

At Tyler the Farmer's Elevator was radically demolished. The roof of the building lies in one place, the walls above the bins in another, and what remains is twisted out of plumb. The only store building at Tyler, that was not in the path of the storm, the suction of the wind drew out the front and left the walls out of line. The home of Elevator Agent Thompson, on the edge of the village, was blown to atoms and ten persons saved their lives by taking refuge in the little 8 x 8 cellar beneath the structure just before the building collapsed.

The storm was narrow, not more than four rods wide at any time, and spectators say it resembled a giant smokestack a mile high. A few rods from the path of the storm hardly a breath of wind stirred during the passage of the twister. It moved slowly and persons who saw it coming had plenty of time to get out of its path even after it had approached within a few hundred feet. One farmer plowing east of Tyler did not notice the storm until it was within a hundred feet of him, and he experienced no evidence of the blow except what he could see.

The freaks of the storm are almost beyond belief. After passing Tyler it scooped the plowed dirt from the muddy field as neatly as if done by a ditching machine, plastering the accumulated mud over a highway a little further on. Debris from the Tyler wreckage was picked up eight miles away. A small piece of cordwood struck a telephone pole and embedded itself, splitting the pole for a distance of eight feet so that daylight could be seen through the split. A carload of galvanized culverts at Tyler was scattered for a long distance, and the heavy material was twisted and torn in every conceivable shape. The Soo agent at Fairmount stood on the depot platform and secured several fine views of the death-dealing cloud, which was plainly visible for several miles. Box cars on the siding at Tyler were badly wrecked, in fact there is hardly a structure in the village but what shows the effects of the storm. A small dog in the Thompson house was carried away by the storm which occurred at 3:30 PM and limped home in a badly bruised condition at 3 o'clock the next morning.

The lines of the Northwestern Telephone Company were put out of commission for a short time but are now in working order again. The people of Tyler seem stunned by the disaster and for a couple of days seemed paralyzed by the effects of the storm. Mr. Thompson, the elevator agent, is confined to his bed from nervous shock.

A smaller storm of similar nature struck the west edge of Wahpeton at about the same time but the only damage was to the sheds on the County Fair grounds which were damaged to the extent of about $1,500.

An account of the storms at Langdon and Ypsilanti, where several lives were lost the same afternoon, appears elsewhere in this issue.

FOUR KILLED by TORNADO

Sunday's Storm Severe in Vicinity of Big Stone

Ortonville, MN., July 12th....Four persons were killed, and over a score were injured by a tornado which swept this vicinity at 4:15 yesterday afternoon. The tornado carried such central energy that it sucked water high up out of Big Stone Lake, hurled itself fiercely across that body of water from the northwest, venting its destructive force upon the railroad yards in the eastern part of the town.

The property loss will reach $150,000. The Milwaukee station, round house, the coal supply building, the warehouses and other buildings which crowd that section of the city caught the full brunt of the storm and fell with frightful detonations before the blast, their splintered lumber rising in a cloud through the gyrating atmosphere.

Cottages along the lake were demolished and residences in this city and Big Stone, SD., were blown from their foundations. The farm house and large farm buildings of Wm. E. Chamberlain, near the city, are a total wreck.

The dead are: John De Griff, an old settler living along the shores of Big Stone Lake, struck by flying timbers, three Italians, names unknown, buried and mangled beneath railroad cars and debris of the Milwaukee road's roundhouse.

The injured: Albert Harmon, employed on the farm of W. E. Chamberlain, buried beneath the debris of the farmhouse, Mrs. Harmon, both legs broken and probably fatal contusions about the chest, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore of Big Stone City, nineteen Italian railroad laborers, many with broken arms and legs, some of whom may die, buried in the ruins of railroad buildings.

Many other person throughout the city and country received minor injuries.

A DOUBLE DROWNING

Deplorable Accident on Hankinson Lake.

The drowning of Johnny Barker and Willie Spreckels brought profound sorrow into every home in Hankinson. The accident occurred last Thursday evening while the boys were boating on the lake and within ten or twelve rods of shore. Miss Emma Spreckels, who was the only other occupant of the boat, had a very narrow escape, but was rescued when about to go down for the last time.

The exact details of the accident will never be known, and there are many conflicting stories of how it occurred. Half a dozen young people had been boating on the lake and the three mentioned above started out together. When but a few rods from the northwest shore, and while the young people were enjoying the pleasure and novelty of the experience (it was the first time either Spreckels or his sister had ever been in a boat), one end suddenly dipped water and in the confusion that followed all three were precipitated into the water, which at that place was between eight and ten feet deep. Johnny was the only one of the three able to swim; Willie sank at once and must have been seized with cramps for he never came to the surface at all. As soon as the boat capsized Johnny grasped the gasping girl and made a heroic effort to save her life, and it is undoubtedly due to his unselfish endeavors that she is alive today. Just as help arrived and the half drowned girl was drawn from the water, Johnny disappeared beneath the surface. The rescuer was a young man employed on the Hankinson farm who was also out in a boat near by and who hastened to the scene of the accident as soon as he heard the screams of the young people.

The half conscious girl was taken to shore and revived within a few minutes. The telephone summoned help from town, an excited crowd was on the scene in a short time. Johnny's body was taken from the water within about half an hour and every effort made to resuscitate him but without result. It took about two hours to locate Willie's body, and every boat in this locality was pressed into service. The bottom was dragged thoroughly and finally the body was brought to surface.

The community has never received a greater shock than the death of these two young men. Johnny Barker was 17 years old and half his life had been spent on the shore of the lake where A. J. Barker located with his family several years ago. He was a daily visitor to town in connection with his father's spring water trade and was highly esteemed for his quiet and gentlemanly demeanor at all times. The eldest child, he had assumed responsibilities beyond his years in connection with his father's business, and the fact that he surrendered his life in an endeavor to save another is but typical of the nobility of his character.

The funeral of Johnny Barker was held Sunday, and the Congregational Church was filled to overflowing with sorrowing friends of the stricken family. The casket was almost concealed by the floral offerings, and there were few dry eyes as the touching service conducted by Rev. W. D. Rickert proceeded. A procession of over fifty carriages followed the mortal remains to their final resting place in Hillside Cemetery.

The out of town friends present at the funeral were Mrs. Wood and son Jay of Minneapolis, Mrs. Burchill of Valley City and Judge VanArnam of Wahpeton.

Willie Spreckels was 20 years old and had lived in Richland County all of his life, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Diedrick Spreckels of this place. He was a quiet and unassuming young man, industrious and thrifty in his habits, and was highly thought of. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon, services being conducted at the German Ev. Church by Rev. H. Kunz, and the church overflowed with the crowd of sorrowing friends and neighbors in attendance. The remains were laid at rest in the cemetery southwest of town. Among those in attendance from a distance were Mrs. Ole Anderson and daughter, Mrs. Julius Schoch, Mrs. Hugh Husse, Miss Ida Zachow and Miss Clara Rossow, cousins of the deceased, and August Zarling, an uncle, all of Breckenridge.

DIDN'T KNOW it WAS LOADED

Sunday afternoon Knute Haugen of Sheyenne Township, this county, was instantly killed by the discharge of a shotgun in the hands of Severet Breden, age 12 years. It seems that the Breden boy with some companions had been hunting and upon nearing home one of the boys volunteered to unload the guns while the Breden boy opened a gate into the barnyard. Haugen, who was stopping at the Breden home, went to the wagon, took one gun which was unloaded and pointed it in play at a little boy, saying he was going to shoot him. Severt Breden seized the other gun and playfully pointing it at Haugen pulled the trigger, supposing the gun unloaded. The cartridges had not been removed, however, and the charge was exploded striking Haugen over the right eye, tearing away the top of his skull and killing him instantly. Sheriff Heley was called but as the shooting was plainly an accident the coroner was not called. Haugen was about thirty five years old and unmarried. * * * * * September 23, 1909

LITTLE REGINA GOLDSTEIN

At 10 AM this morning little Regina, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Goldstein, passed away after an illness of but a few days. A sore throat was followed by an attack of diptheria, but the little one's condition was not considered critical, and she passed away almost without warning.

Regina was but six years old, yet in the brief span of life that has ended she endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact. Bright to an extraordinary degree, always wearing a sunny smile, she was a favorite with her playmates and the people of the community in general. God has gathered to His bosom one of His fairest flowers.

DEATH'S HARVEST

Grim Reaper Brings Sorrow to Well Known Families

FRANK E. SCHLENER.

Sudden and unexpected was the death of Frank E. Schlener, one of the most prominent farmers in this part of the county, at his home near Mantador last Thursday evening.

Returning from a trip to Great Bend, he ate a hearty supper and afterwards seemed indisposed. Lying down on a couch, he apparently fell asleep, but it proved to be the sleep that knows no waking, for he had expired of heart failure without a struggle.

Deceased was in the prime of life and apparently in the best of health. The news of his untimely death was a great shock to a large circle of friends and acquaintances of the family.

Deceased was one of our pioneer farmers and is survived by a grief stricken wife and a family of grown children.

He was a prominent member of the Knights of Columbus, the Hankinson Court of the Catholic Order of Foresters and the Modern Woodmen of America. He carried $1,000 of insurance in the C. O. F. and $2,000 in the Woodmen.

The funeral was held Sunday morning at Mantador, services being conducted in the Catholic Church by Rev. Fr. Simon. Besides a large gathering of sorrowing friends and neighbors, delegations were present from Hankinson, Wahpeton and Lidgerwood representing the fraternal societies of which deceased was a member. Beautiful floral offerings covered the casket.

The procession that followed the remains to their final resting place in the Mantador Catholic Cemetery was one of the largest in the history of the county.

A GOOD MAN GONE

Frank Sweeney of Elma Passed Away This Week

Frank Sweeney, one of the early settlers of Elma, passed away at his home on Monday evening shortly before six o'clock as the result of injuries sustained by falling from a horse.

Deceased in company with his hired man attended the W. H. Baker auction sale Thursday afternoon. After the sale they started home but stopped at Al Hunter's for supper. A little later they left there for home the hired man driving a buggy and Mr. Sweeney on a saddle horse. The hired man reached the barn first and a moment later the saddle horse arrived without the rider. The hired man hurried back and found Mr. Sweeney lying on the ground almost in front of the house. Carrying him into the house, he placed the unconscious man on the bed and later summoned medical aid. Dr. Spottswood made an examination and found that he was suffering from concussion of the brain, the result of a fall from the horse. Bruises on the head showed the cause of his injury. Every effort was made to revive him but without avail, and he passed away, Monday evening, without regaining consciousness.

Deceased was a single man of 32 years and was born in St. Croix County, WI. He came to Richland County with his parents at an early age and was a resident of the county for 27 years. When the reservation was opened for settlement in 1892 he located in Elma Township on the farm which he has since occupied. He was well thought of by his neighbors and his tragic death was a great shock to the community. He had held various township offices and was assessor at the time of his death. He was a member of the Hankinson Aerie of Eagles.

Deceased is survive by one brother, Dan, who also resides in Elma, and four sisters, two of whom arrived Tuesday evening....Mrs. John Finn of River Falls, WI., and Mrs. Stephen Hunt of Yankton, SD. The other two sisters, Mrs. T. Grier of Granite Falls, WA., and Mrs. Jennie Donovan of Tacoma, WA., are expected this evening.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, services at the Catholic Church and interment will be made in the cemetery just south of town.

STILL at LARGE

Cogswell, ND., Nov. 30th....Samuel Gant, who murdered Louis Maxwell in the pool room at Englevale Thanksgiving afternoon, and his brother, passed across the state line into South Dakota Friday evening. They stopped at the meat market in Newark to purchase supplies. Early Saturday morning a posse from Newark found the younger Gant asleep in a straw pile just south of Kidder, about seven miles southeast of Newark. He surrendered peacefully. The older brother had secured a horse and had a good start on the posse.

Monday afternoon the posse was reported hot after the murderer, who was riding his fourth horse, stolen since the chase began. He was turned around, according to a report, and was coming north. News of his capture is expected at any moment, but it is not thought he will surrender without a fight. He left his rifle with his brother but is heavily armed with colt revolvers and is said to be a crack shot.

BODY FOUND in RIVER

Victim of Foul Play Found in River at Wahpeton

The body of a man, afterwards identified as that of Albert Moen, was found in the Red River about a mile north of Wahpeton Sunday. An inquest revealed the fact that his skull had been cracked, and a hole in his breast had evidently been made with a bullet. The advanced state of decomposition made it difficult to discover the exact cause of death. A gold watch was missing from the body, the buckskin chain having been cut in two, and there were other circumstances that indicated murder for the purpose of robbery.

Moen had been employed on the big C. M Johnson farm at Dwight but left for Breckenridge on Oct. 9th to make some purchases, promising to return. He had some money coming from Johnson for wages but never returned to claim it. It was thought possible he had gone north to the woods for the winter and no investigation of his disappearance was made until about a week ago when a brother arrived in Breckenridge from Underwood, MN., in search of him. The last seen of him alive was in a Breckenridge saloon. It is supposed he was the victim of thugs who thought he had money, and some slight clues are now being followed up, but it is hardly probable the murderers will ever be brought to justice.

Moen was a single man, 32 years old and had worked around Dwight for several seasons.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT

Child Drowns in Hole Dug for Telephone Pole.

A shocking accident befell the little 3 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ruehl, occupying the old Clark farm about a mile this side of Lidgerwood, last Friday.

Mr. Ruehl was arranging to have his home connected with the telephone line and post holes had been dug which partially filled with water. The child, while playing about the premises fell into the hole and was drowned before discovered. The mother found the little one but life was extinct.

TERRIBLE DEATH

Young Man Crushed by Ponderous Steam Breaker

One of the railroad men who runs between here and Bismarck relates to The NEWS the story of a shocking accident near Wishek early this week.

Ole Aszeldon, about 21 yeas old, a native of Norway, had been in this country only a few months, was run over by a big steam breaking plow two miles north of Wishek and instantly killed.

It seems the young man, who accompanied the breaker outfit as sort of general utility man to look after the plows and other work incidental to the operation of the big machine, was walking alongside the engine to protect himself from the chilly wind. It is supposed that he stumbled and fell under one of the big drivers. The engineer heard no outcry and did not know what had happened until he looked around and saw the mangled remains of the unfortunate young man tangled in the plows. The great weight which passed over the form of the deceased lengthwise crushed him flat. He leaves an uncle near Burnstad.
